Creative Freelancers: Shaping London's Recovery Call Out
đ	About the programme
	Creative Freelancers: Shaping London's Recovery is a new programme from the Mayor of London
	It has been created to support creative freelancers
	It will give freelancers a louder voice in the culture sector and support them to advocate for changes that are needed as London recovers from the Covid-19 pandemic
ĦĦĦ ĦĦĦĦĦ ĦĦĦĦĦĦ	It will bring together 50 creative freelancers from across the performing arts, such as performers, directors and designers and 50 leaders from key organisations

Q	They will explore and make recommendations on the future of freelancing
- XX -	This programme has been created because creative freelancers have been badly affected by Covid-19
	Up to 60% of freelancers lost all of their work and approximately 200,000 Londoners could not receive any government support
*	The pandemic also highlighted other inequalities facing freelancers such as lack of security at work and unequal access to opportunities
FTF	This programme builds on the positive work of the Freelance Task Force
Ĵ	How will it work?

£	Each freelancer will receive a bursary
	They will work together with a group on a research project
	They will be supported by a freelance facilitation team
ს — ს ₩₩	The project will last for six months
	Programme Aims
	This project will empower creative freelancers to make recommendations for London's recovery from Covid-19 in three areas

	Creating more jobs with better working conditions and helping freelancers stay in work
	Advocating for an improved legal position for creative freelancers
	Establishing skills and training opportunities for creative freelancers
